HOW WE DID IT.

Two picnickers, rivals in a modest way,
Met upon the street by chance one day;
And, business not being lively, soon they sat
Upon the curb to have a quiet chat.
Now shop nor warehouse did these merchants own.

But every day their stock of goods was thrown Across their backs and carried all around,
While cries of "brooms" throughout the streets
Brought "broom" to "buy a broom," each loudly cried.

"Broom!" "Buy a broom," each loudly cried,
And then to sell their wares these merchants tried.

So, as they talked, the conversation turned

Upon the picnickers' modesty, when Uncle

"How happy it is," said one, "to sell so low
And yet your business daily seems to grow!"

Materials were cheap, and when Uncle

"And I can buy and work so easily at your

The other replied: "You silly elf!

Look at the stuff and make the goods yourself."

But notwithstanding this, it happened so.

You understand me everywhence I go,

And every day a lively trade you do.

Your stock of goods keeps on increasing, too.

I know not how you do it, and confess

I'd like to know the secret you possess."

He said: "I tell him willingly, because

FOREIGN.

An anti-Jewish riot at Berlin was speedily suppressed. The wheat-yield in France will be about 20 per cent short of the average since the Franco-Prussian war. A private insane asylum at Ealing, England, was destroyed by fire. The proprietor and his son lost their lives in attempting to rescue patients, five of whom perished in the flames.

At a mine in Cornwall, England, twelve men were killed by the breaking of a rope attached to a cage in which they were being raised to the surface.

Nikulim is finding a foothold in the schools of Russia, and circuits of students are quite frequent. The Minister of Education urges the scholars to adhere to enforced discipline, and call on the police if necessary.

The Emperor of Morocco having refused to pay the claims of Italian subjects, war is imminent. In Tangier, the capital, the Italian Envoy lowered his flag, thus hostile acts causing a panic among the inhabitants.

An Alexandria newspaper says the French mission to study the features of the cholera has arrived there. The total number of deaths thus far from cholera among the British troops in Egypt is 125. The disease is on the increase in Alexandria.

The Khedive visited the hospitals and spoke words of encouragement to the patients suffering from the pestilence. A Suez dispatch says 2,000 Bedouins attacked the sanitarium at Sintak and were repelled with a loss of sixty killed. The soldiers defending the place lost seven men and the civilians five.

Crown Prince Rudolph opened the Electric exhibition at Vienna in the presence of thousands of visitors.

Mr. Powell, in the British House of Commons declared that unless the disabilities in the Land not yet remedied he would lead a desperate and desperate agitation.

Madrid journals declare French speculators raised 750,000 francs to corrupt the Spanish army and bring about the revolt.

At a Bonapartist banquet in Paris speeches were made in favor of Prince Victor, son of Jerome, as leader of the faction.

A Dublin dispatch says it is intended to organize a company for the purpose of raising a fund to supplement the Government grant for immigration inland. A special appeal for subscriptions to the fund will be made to the Irish in America.

PERSONAL.

The wife of United States Senator W. B. Allison, while suffering from an insane attack, drowned herself in the Mississippi at Dubuque, Iowa. Mrs. Allison left home in the afternoon, telling her servant that she was going to one of the near neighbors.

Instead of this, however, taking her garments, she ran away, she was in an opposite direction toward the country where he has been accustomed to take almost daily walks.

A great Irish picnic was held at O'Conor's Grove, near Chicago. Congressman Finney was the President of the day. Dr. P. H. Cronin, read the declaration of principles of the Irish-Americans of Chicago. The Hon. Thomas Bremen was introduced by Mr. Finney as a gentleman who came to Chicago through the doors of an English jail, and as therefore entitled to the respect of all Irishmen. This sentiment was echoed by a vast concourse.

The speeches of the day all breathed intense loyalty to the English oppression and Danish interference.

Since the adjournment of Congress 250,000 gallons of spirits have been exported and 12,000 barrels await shipment at Newport News, Va.

A committee of six striking telegraph operators held an interview with Gen. Ecker, of the Western Union Company, at New York Aug. 15, and were advised to make application to their respective Superintendents. His counsel was warmly informed by the Executive Committee of the company. The Executive Board of the telegraphed Gen. Ecker a letter stating that the organization would carry on the fight with renewed vigor by every legitimate means.

Thus far this year 121,019 immigrants landed in Canada.

Judge Robert Hewitt Brown, a prominent Mason and writer, died at Albion, N. Y., aged 53.

William Weis, of Pittsburgh, has been elected President of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers to succeed John Jarrett, who declined a re-election.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

The Indiana Banking Company of Indianapolis, has gone into the hands of John Lenders, as receiver. The officers state that $30,000 was lost in the purchase and sale of stock of the First National Bank. It is claimed that the assets would meet the liabilities if not forced to sale. The City National Bank at Lawrenceburg, Ind., will not resume business.

The disturbed condition of the stock market continued in Wall Street on the 1st inst., and during the hours of business sharp declines in many securities were noted. The transactions were unusually large, competing authority placing the stock which changed ownership of 500,000 shares at noon the failure of George William Ballou & Co. was announced in the exchange, causing much excitement and a further decline in value. Their liabilities will approximate $700,000. American railroad shares in London fell in sympathy with the chaotic condition of affairs in Wall Street.

In the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' Convention at Philadelphia, the question as to whether the iron men should withdraw from the steel workers and organize by themselves, was negatived by a unanimous vote.

Speculating by a partner forced the suspension of Edmund C. Stedman, the post-breaker of Wall street.

J. W. Shaw and Brother, the bankrupt New England tanners, report liabilities of $7,000,000.

On account of unlucky investments in manufacturing enterprises, the Farmers' Bank of Richmond, Ind., has closed its doors.

J. W. Mackey, the Bonanza King, has been elected a Director of the Postal Telegraph Company. Work was suspended at the old of the English Government in its efforts to excommunicate the poor of Syria.

In the English House of Commons, Pococke maintained that if the shortcomings of the law were not soon remedied he would lead an agitation deeper and more desperate than any hitherto experienced in the Church of Scotland.

A Jew, representing a London house, who was provided with a British passport and letters to banking firms, has been expelled from Russia. The decree forbidding Jewish manufacturers from employing Christian workmen is ordered by the Minister of Interior to be strictly enforced.

POLITICAL.

The Springfield (Ill.) State Journal hoisted the name of James G. Blaine, for President. A Washington dispatch to the Chicago Times reports that Ex-Senator McDonald of Indiana, has made his appearance there on a political mission; that he McDonald is now uncertain what Mr. Tilden is determined to do.

The Virginia Republican Straight-convention met at Richmond the other day. The platform adopted favors a strict adherence to the Republican principles and protective tariff, endorses James G. Blaine for the Presidency, condemns the action of the administration in aiding Gen. Motto in the repudiation of one-third the State debt, declared the power given Mahon should be used for the protection of the sanitation at Sintak and were repelled with a loss of sixty killed. The soldiers defending the place lost seven men and the civilians five.

JOHN KNOX'S COUNTRY.

A curious anecdote of Knox's attitude to Lord Ophir's daughter is contained in a letter written by Mr. Robert Milne, Minister of Paisley, to Wodrow, the historian of the suffering of the Church of Scotland, dated Nov. 16, 1722. It is as follows:

John Knox, before the light of the Roaring river in history for it is the dense fog that overhangs it like dense walls at certain seasons of the year. Well, one foggy morning I started before daybreak for the river, as had been my custom, to catch a mess of fish for breakfast. The fog was thick enough to cut with a knife, and I could see my hand before my eyes, but just made for the bank by instinct. Finally I got near enough to hear the waves beating against the shore, and undoing my line, threw it out. I was rewarded with the usual success. Caught ten fine catfish, and just as I had commenced to wind up my line and start back the sun arose and the fog began to drift hither down the river. Then to my great surprise, I discovered that I hadn't been within 200 yards of the water.

THE SECRET OF TRUE DIGNITY.

The common note of all men, says the London Spectator, who are remarkable for true dignity is, however, a conscious self-respect, and the getting less and less common as the competitive temper merges into the competitive spirit of modern times. The Lady addressed herself to her oldest daughter, telling her she might be very happy if she could marry Mr. Knox, who would be a great reformer, and a credit to the church; but she despised the proposal, hoping that her Ladyship wished her better than to marry a poor wanderer. The Lady addressed the second daughter, who answered as the eldest. Then the Lady spoke to the third daughter, about 19 years of age, who very faintly said, "Madam, I'll be very willing to marry him, but I fear he'll not take you." To which the Lady replied, "If that be all your objection I'll soon get you an answer." Next night at supper the Lady said, "Sir, I have been considering upon a wife for you, and find one very willing." To which Knox inquired: "Who is it, madam?" She answered, "My young daughter, sitting by your side, at the table."

Then, addressing himself to the young lady, he said: "My bird, are you willing to marry me?" She answered: "Yes, sir; only I fear you will not be willing to take me." He said, "My bird, if you are willing to take me you must take your venture of God's providence with this action, and therefore it is that in the external and hasty and irritability of our day, dignity is staved.

COUNTRY ROADS.

Country roads have not kept pace with national development in other respects, and the day is not distant when the subject must be taken up to cleanse and to widen and to make them safe for travel.

EARLY PLOWING FOR FALL HARVEST.

The American Agriculturist says: The first object gained by early plowing is the proper preparation of the seed-bed. All possible fertility should be made readily available. To be so, it should be soluble, and division aids solution. The ground becomes hard in July and August, and, if plowing is delayed too long, the soil breaks up in hard lumps. If plowed early, it will turn moist and fine. Rain and air are nature's two great disintegrating forces.

Seeds germinate quickly and plants grow rapidly in a firm seed-bed. The increase of insect enemies of wheat makes late sowing, coupled with rapid vigorous growth, desirable. Hence the importance of a firm seed-bed, which also prevents much freezing out of the plants. To make the seed-bed firm, it must first be fine. It is not hard soil, but compact, fine soil, that is desired.

It may be compared with the roller and harrow, but if the farmer, by early plowing, can gain the aid of a heavy rain, it will save him much labor, and it will do the work of preparing the soil far better than he can alone.

Another object gained by early plowing is the destruction of weeds. They are robbers of the wheat, and the sooner their growth is stopped by plowing, the less plant-food they will take from the soil. Early plowing will destroy them before they mature their seeds, and thus prevent perpetuating their kind.

Early plowing admits of a large growth, and when this is turned under by the plow, it is impossible to compact the seed-bed, and the green manure affords a harbor for enemies.

Early plowing admits of a better application of manure. Manure is most needed in autumn, and to be at once available to the roots of the young plant, it must be fine and near the surface; not on top of the ground, but thoroughly incorporated with the upper layer of soil. If the ground is plowed, the work of preparing the soil must be done.

Early plowing admits of atmospheric fertilization. Whether it directly adds the elements of fertility to the soil or only frees and unlocks that which it already possesses is immaterial. Plowing the land exposes a greater surface and permits of the easy passage of the air into the interior of the soil.

A FIGHT FOG.

Snake and fish stories are peculiarly American. Nearly every paper in this country gives its readers at intervals a big dose of either fish or snakes. Here's a good fish story which was related to the Washington Critic by a gentleman who resides on the historical banks of the Potomac river, just below Alexandria.

"You knew," he began, "if there is anything that the Potomac river is famous in history for it is the dense fog that overhangs it like dense walls at certain seasons of the year. Well, one foggy morning I started before daybreak for the river, as had been my custom, to catch a mess of fish for breakfast. The fog was thick enough to cut with a knife, and I could see my hand before my eyes, but just made for the bank by instinct. Finally I got near enough to hear the waves beating against the shore, and undoing my line, threw it out. I was rewarded with the usual success. LOCAL ITEMS.

Mrs. Geo. Homer arrived home last week from her visit to Cheesaning.

R. P. Forbes has just returned from a trip through the central part of the State.

G. C. Dennis, Rochester, says: I have sold Brown's Iron Bitter and find it gives satisfaction.

Mrs. W. H. M. Cooper, of Gaylord, who has been very sick for the past month, is reported convalescent.

James Hamilton's threshing machine will start the first of the week in the Fauble neighborhood in Grove township.

Dr. N. H. Turner has a neat and appropriate sign for his drug store, a mortar and pestle, with pedestal nicely lettered.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to George H. Smith, of Gaylord, who buried his baby boy on Wednesday.

Mr. W. Keough, of Jonesville, and B. J. Wakely returned from a trip down the river yesterday with a fine catch of grayling.

Dr. Tim Knott, Luddington, says: I feel it my duty to recommend Brown's Iron Bitters for delicate females, and children's complaints.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Taylor of New Haven, Shiawassee county, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones, departed for home last week.

The genial McKinley with his wife and Mr. Whiteley and Prosecuting attorney McEwen were down from Gaylord with the band yesterday.

We hear from different sources that Zahn and his "Original (I) Pioneer" are about to bid adieu to Roscommon and seek a more congenial climate.

Mr. J. G. Marsh was in town on Saturday with a wagon-load of vegetables grown on his place which are excellent in quality, as ye printer can testify.

By the courtesy of Miss Kate Traver we are enabled to say with authority that over 700 bushels of huckleberries have been shipped from this office this season.

Attention is called to the new card in this issue of Mr. Albert E. Newland's All-business-entrusted to him will receive prompt and satisfactory attention.

George L. Alexander has been appointed circuit court commissioner by Judge Falas for Roscommon county. No commissioner was elected at the last general election.

There is but a small, fractional amount of the corn crop of the townships of Brady, Cheesaning and Maple Grove which has been considered worth cultivating. — Cheesaning Argus.

J. J. Hansey, G. H. Thayer and M. Madean, of Grayling, are doing the inside work on the Times building. They are good workmen and come well recommended. — Ogemaw Co. Times.

It never fails. — Hill's English Extract of Buchu and Cucubane never failed in a single instance in making a permanent cure for kidney complaints and all diseases of the urinary organs, in either sex. Thousands are using it.

The suit of Mrs. Cox before Judge Taylor for the custody of her little girl, which has created quite an excitement in the eastern part of the country, was amicably settled yesterday by the parties agreeing to forget the past and live peaceably together hereafter. A sensible determination.

In the matter of the petition of Geo. Horn for the custody of Hattie Stiglitz Horn, which will be remembered by our citizens as made last May, Judge Tuttle has just rendered his decision denying the petition and leaving the girl with her adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lampert. We believe the decision just and in all respects best for the girl.

The Gaylord cornet band was in the city yesterday and paraded our streets in their new and tasty uniforms, discouraging fine music in many parts of the city. They are a fine appearing set of gentlemen and their proficiency in drill and music places them in the front rank. Such visits are ever welcome and tend to strengthen the friendly relations existing between our people and theirs. The excursion to be given by them on next Wednesday will start from here and will we hope largely attended, as a good time is certain.

An exchange, speaking of the postage of a newspaper, says: "Did you ever notice that the fellow who won't take the paper, because by holding his patronage he thinks he can break it up, is the first to gobble the paper of some prompt paying subscriber? This looks a little inconsistent, but it is a fact. This kind of man would answer that he wouldn't touch the worthless sheet, but he will sit around the stores on the day of issue, and before the paper is dry from the press point out to it like a duck upon a June bug."

Mrs. E. Purchase has two daughters from Saginaw visiting her.

Mr. R. Morris, of Shiawassee county, is a guest of J. S. Harder, Esq.

Miss Franklin Batterson, of Beaver Creek township, is visiting Miss Alice Harder.

We learn that the father of Mr. O. J. Smith died at his son's residence in Kalkaska county last Saturday.

A new building is being erected between the planing mill and railroad to store dressed lumber while awaiting shipment.

Mr. D. Kneeland, cashier at the store of Salling, Hanson & Co., who went to Milwaukee, Wis., a week or two ago, is expected to return to-morrow or next day.

Salling, Hanson & Co. have completed the addition to their carriage-way so they can saw timber sixty feet in length. No mill in Michigan can supply finer timber or bill stuff than this.

Mr. E. L. Davis, formerly agent at this station, who went to Washington Territory a short time ago, has returned, and we hear that he reports that he has "had enough of the West." So say they all who have the "needful" to return with.

A man who takes a newspaper lives on a high mountain, and sees all that is going on in the world. A man who takes no newspaper, lives in a hole in the ground, and will not know when the world comes to an end until the ground-hogs tell him.

Huckleberries, raspberries, blackberries, black cherries and ground apples, all luscious fruit, grow in abundance on the plains, to take the place of orchard products, which have yet to grow but which will surely come.

We have heard of white black-birds and a great many other curious freaks of nature, but never saw or heard of white huckleberries until this week. Mr. John Kelley brought us a quantity which are very large and sweet. We have preserved some in alcohol as a curiosity.

Mr. Joseph Sewell wishes to announce to the people of Pere Marquette and surrounding country that he has in stock a general assortment of Dry Goods, Clothing, Groceries, etc., which he is disposing of at the lowest prices for cash. Give him a call and be convinced.

Mr. J. A. Breakey, of Plymouth, Wayne county, this State, called on us yesterday and subscribed for the AVALANCHE. Mr. Breakey informed us that he owns a piece of land in Center Plains township and that it is his intention to remove with his family there on next spring. He was much pleased with the growth of Grayling, having visited our city about seven years ago, and especially so with our school house. He will undoubtedly send one or two pupils next season.

The attention of the boys who wore the blue is called to the notice of the Otsego and Crawford County Soldiers and Sailors' Reunion, to be held at Gaylord Sept. 4th and 5th. Let everyone make arrangements at once to be in attendance. Comrades from Emmet, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Antrim counties will be present, and you cannot fail of meeting old-time friends and comrades. The members of Otsego county will give you royal welcome and a grand good time is certain.

A resolution was formed and adopted to extend to our retiring president, Mrs. S. H. Edgecumbe, a more substantial proof of our appreciation of her services than mere thanks and thereby give her the benefit of a picnic social at her residence on August 24th, 1883, afternoon and evening.

PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

Kansas, it will be remembered, adopted a constitutional prohibitory amendment on the liquor question and passed a law to enforce this temperance principle. Those of our people who wish to have an intelligent idea of this struggle in Kansas, can secure very full information upon the subject, by sending for the Weekly Capital, of Topeka, Kansas. The Capital is eight pages in size, carefully edited, the official State paper, and a stalwart advocate of prohibition, giving much information upon the temperance issue in that State. It is sent postage paid to any address one year for $1. Sample copy free to all applicants. Send money by registered letter or post office order to J. K. Hudson, Editor and Proprietor, Topeka, Kansas.

PICNIC SOCIAL.

A picnic social will be held at the residence of Mrs. Joseph Edgecumbe on the afternoon and evening of Friday (to-morrow), to which a cordial invitation is extended to all. The social is in honor of Mrs. S. H. Edgecumbe, the retiring president of the ladies aid society, who is soon to depart from among us, and it is hoped that on this occasion she may be greeted by a host of her Grayling friends. Through sickness at the parsonage the social will be held as above stated.

Mr. Joseph Sewell wishes to announce to the people of Pere Marquette and surrounding country that he has in stock a general assortment of Dry Goods, Clothing, Groceries, etc., which he is disposing of at the lowest prices for cash. Give him a call and be convinced.

The Ladies' Aid Society convened at the residence of Mrs. T. W. Mitchell August 18th, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing six months. The following were duly elected:

President, Mrs. T. W. Mitchell.

Vice-President, Mrs. W. A. Masters.

Secretary, Mrs. J. S. Harrington.

Treasurer, Mrs. F. D. Robinson.

The semi-annual financial report gives a showing of $80.77, $20.50 of which has been given to charitable purposes.

A resolution was formed and adopted to extend to our retiring president, Mrs. S. H. Edgecumbe, a more substantial proof of our appreciation of her services than mere thanks and thereby give her the benefit of a picnic social at her residence on August 24th, 1883, afternoon and evening.
